Suffolk's 20th Signals Dual Celebration

An informal reception for all members of the College community was held on Jan. 31, to mark the 20th anniversary of the Suffolk Campus.

On Feb. 2, 1971, St. Joseph's started an extension program in the collegiate center formerly known as Brentwood College. Swift growth in the number of students - from 6 to almost 300 - led to the move to Patchogue, in the former Seton Hall High School at 155 Roe Blvd.

Now, there are more than 2,000 students taking a wide-range of courses. In 1974, the College added a program leading to a Bachelor's Degree in General Studies. Today, the Division of General Studies offers a variety of degree-granting majors, including the B.S. in Nursing, as well as certificate programs.

In 1989, the computerized, 25,000-square-foot Callahan Library was opened, serving both the College and the community. The new facility was made possible by donations to the New Horizons Capital Campaign, which also provides for upgrading facilities on both campuses and funding scholarships.

For 20 years, St. Joseph's has given Long Island residents what they wanted. . . the opportunity to take courses at their own pace, close to home, with the status of a long-established, highly accredited college.

"Our celebration of 20 years in Suffolk is an exciting event and is building toward the 75th anniversary of the founding of the college in Brooklyn," said S. George.

Alfred Allegretti

Trustee Helps Military Families

Alfred Allegretti, President of Bayside Fuel Oil Depot Corporation and a member of the Board of Trustees, donated 5,000 gallons of fuel oil to families of local reservists who were called to serve in the Persian Gulf. The U.S.O. identified families according to need.

Mr. Allegretti said, "As a member of the Board of Trustees of the College, I feel it is important to set an example for students in keeping with St. Joseph's emphasis on volunteerism."

This action inspired other oil companies, such as Empire Fuel, headed by Frank LaForgia, to donate oil, which Bayside Fuel Oil delivered free of charge. Private citizens participated by donating money to purchase fuel oil for these families, which was delivered by Bayside.

In addition, Bayside Fuel's employees ran a "Blood Campaign" and the U.S.O. collected blood there.

Celebrating the 20th anniversary are S. Mary Florence Burns, Academic V.P.; S. George Aquin O'Connor, Pres.; S. Jean Marie Amore, Academic Dean; and S. Rose Catherine, Registrar.

GS Introduces New Certificate Program

The Division of General Studies is offering a new 15-credit Certificate in Human Resources designed to meet the challenge of providing better-equipped personnel in the workforce.

SCHOLARSHIP HONORS EDITOR - Robert Greene, assistant managing editor of Newsday, accepts a plaque announcing the Robert Greene Scholarship from S. George Aquin O'Connor, SJC President. The College will present the four-year, full tuition award to an incoming freshman this fall. The scholarship recognizes Greene's significant contributions in the area of investigative journalism, creative writing and scholarly pursuits and it honors Greene's outstanding leadership in L.I.'s educational, cultural and social institutions.

The new certificate focuses directly on personnel/human resources issues, and is geared to human resources professionals. The program meets the needs of persons employed in personnel departments who have earned degrees either in specialized business areas or in majors unrelated to personnel. An advantage in earning the certificate is that the courses taken may be applied toward the Bachelor's Degree in the Management of Human Resources, Business Administration, General Studies or Health Administration, also offered by the Division.

"St. Joseph's College has been developing and refining majors and certificates in response to a demonstrated need for well-prepared managerial personnel to serve in area businesses, health agencies and service organizations," said Dr. Thomas G. Travis, Division Dean. "The new Certificate in Human Resources will provide our students with the credentials, knowledge and expertise necessary to succeed."

The certificate is approved by the state Board of Regents and is the result of the College's study and appraisal of the need to provide workers in the human resources field with courses tailored to their profession.

READY TO SERVE - Kaye Nembhard, a 19-year-old Brooklyn biology major, was called to active duty to serve in the Gulf. She is a Medical Laboratory Specialist in the Army Reserves, with the 355th Medical Detachment. Kaye said, "It was a voluntary act for me to join the Reserves. I feel privileged to go. The big negative is that I will be missing out on school. All I ask from the people I left behind is their prayers and their full support."*

Nursing Program Earns NLN Accreditation

The National League of Nursing has awarded full accreditation to St. Joseph's program leading to the Bachelor of Science with a major in nursing.

"It is a statement of quality," said Dr. Audrey J. Conley, Program Director.

Accreditation adds prestige to the Nursing Program, which has been offered by the Division of General Studies since 1987. "It is remarkable that we developed the program and all the courses; completed the report... which was rather lengthy...; and achieved accreditation in a very short time," said Dr. Conley.

Accreditation, according to Dr. Conley, means a great deal to the students in terms of employment after graduation and when they are considering advancing to graduate school.

The program is designed exclusively for registered nurses and provides the student with both general and professional education; prepares for professional practice in traditional and unstructured health care settings; and provides a foundation for graduate education in nursing.

Golf Tournament Tees Off June 17th

Fore! Here comes St. Joseph's College off the first tee - blasting onto the golf tournament scene with its first annual event. . . this year, in celebration of the College's Diamond Jubilee.

The tournament will be held at Southward Ho! Country Club in Bay Shore on Monday, June 17. The day includes a scrumptious hot breakfast, beginning at 7:30 a.m., a shot-gun tee-off at 8:45 a.m., refreshments at various check points on the course, cocktails on the clubhouse veranda, and a sumptuous sliced filet mignon luncheon.

Prizes for top golfers and an exciting raffle during the luncheon round out the tournament.

There are many ways in which alumni and friends may participate in this "fun day." Putting together a two-some or foursome is one way, of course, - another is to sponsor a tee. . . or to join us for cocktails and lunch.

If you are interested, please complete the coupon and return it to: St. Joseph's College Golf Tournament, Development Office, 155 Roe Boulevard, Patchogue, NY 11772 - or call (516) 654-3200 x130.

Largest Gift Ever!

Sister George Aquin has announced that the College has recently received a gift of $300,000 from an anonymous donor.

"This benefactor is a long-time friend of St. Joseph's," said S. George, "who has maintained an awareness of, and an interest in, our development over the years."

The largest single contribution ever, this gift marks a milestone in the College's fund-raising efforts. . . and it comes at a most appropriate moment in the life of SJC - as it braces to meet the many fiscal challenges of the 1990's.

RINGING IN PLEDGES - A total of $51,215 in pledges was made by alumni during the March Phonathon. S. George Aquin proudly announced the results to the 65 alumni, faculty and administrators who made the calls, asking alumni to help us reach the 3-year goal of $1,000,000 by June 30th. Although $835,000 in pledges has been made over that period, only $721,000 has been received. Alumni who have not fulfilled their commitment are encouraged to do so by June 30th.*

The Brooklyn Club was the scene -business and corporate leaders were the cast - and, support of St. Joseph's College was the theme.

The event was the Trustees Annual Luncheon which is traditionally an outstanding effort on the part of board members to bring their colleagues and other constituencies together to meet college admininstrators and learn more about SJC.

This year, over 100 attended the $150-a-plate "bash." Benefactors also bought tickets for some of the College's students majoring in business and accounting to give them an opportunity to discuss career possibilities with the "best in the business."

Co-chairing the luncheon were trustees William McKenna, President of Ridgewood Savings Bank, and Anthony DiBrita, Vice President, Brooklyn Union Gas. Over $20,000 was raised for St. Joseph's.

Trustee Stephen Hochberg makes a point during Planning Day.

SJC Reviews Self-Study At Planning Day

On March 13, SJC held a college-wide planning day to review its ongoing self-study which began a year ago in preparation for the Middle States Commission on Higher Education re-accreditation visit which is slated for March 1 to March 4, 1992.

Joining faculty and administrators was Trustee Stephen Hochberg, practicing attorney and a faculty member at Touro Law School. He described the role of the Board, legally and fiscally, and its relationship to various constituencies of the College.

The self-study has focused on all aspects of the College's operation. Currently, reports are being gathered from the task forces involved in the process to be incorporated into the complete report.

Middle States emphasizes that this process is intended to be educational. . . a time to take stock, to evaluate strengths and weaknesses, and to plan for the future.

ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE

Capital campaign UPDATE

Your support is needed to keep campaign on target

St. Joseph's College's five-year, $5,000,000 New Horizons Capital Campaign began in October 1988 for the benefit of the building and scholarship funds.

Thanks to the generosity and personal sacrifice of many, $3,787,530 has been raised to date, with more than $1,136,960 contributed and/or pledged by alumni (including matching gifts).

During the past three years, the Callahan Library was constructed; many areas of the Brooklyn Campus were remodelled and refurbished; and more than 200 scholarships were awarded to worthy students. However, much remains to be done - library bond payments must be completed and many more students need financial assistance than can be accommodated by the College's limited resources.

Therefore, the remaining year and a half of the campaign are crucial. Your help is needed if we are to meet our goal and continue to provide the best education possible for our students.

Please consider some of the following year-end gift ideas which may benefit you and the College.

Year-end Tax Wise Giving For 1991

You will pay more taxes in 1991 - about 2 percent more if you are the "average" American. Those with annual incomes of more than $200,000 can expect an average tax increase of 6 percent.

No matter what your income, if you itemize, you can almost always save on income taxes through charitable giving - and - not only does your 1991 year-end contribution save you taxes, it provides St. Joseph's College with meaningful support.

As you consider your year-end tax planning, remember that the charitable deduction is one of the few deductions remaining for income tax planning purposes and allows an individual to plan to lower his or her taxes.

Before December 31st . . .

A gift of	Will actually cost you:	Will save you:
$ 1,000	$ 720	$ 280

Gordon M. Caswell & Associates

Generally, it makes sense to consider making the most of your charitable gifts in those tax years in which you expect to have the most income or otherwise be in the top tax brackets. In such a case, you may wish to accelerate future gifts into 1991 or prepay on campaign pledges.

Here is a brief guide to some of the best 1991 year-end gift opportunities.

Cash

The most popular way to make charitable gifts is simply a gift of cash. And your gift to St. Joseph's College prior to Dec. 31 could result in some nice cash savings for you at tax filing time.

For example, if you make a $2,000 gift before Dec. 31 and are in the 28 percent marginal tax bracket, your gift could save you $560 in taxes!

How? In essence, the government recognizes the contribution non-profit organizations make to society, and assists in making the gift through tax deductions.

Stock

Gifts of appreciated securities or stock can be one of the most advantageous ways of giving. If you have owned the stock you choose to give for more than one year, you may deduct the full fair market value of the stock as a charitable contribution, and at the same time, you'll bypass all capital gain taxes. (The appreciated portion of the investment may trigger the Alternative Minimum Tax. Check with your advisor.)

Real Estate

Gifts of appreciated real estate are like gifts of appreciated stock. Assuming you have owned the property for more than one year, you may count the full fair market value of the real estate as the amount of your charitable contribution, while avoiding all capital gain taxes. (The appreciated portion of the investment may trigger the Alternative Minimum Tax. Check with your advisor.)

Insurance

Life insurance is a unique way to give to SJC. To qualify, the College needs to become the owner and beneficiary. No incidence of ownership should be retained.

If the policy is paid up, the amount of your charitable contribution is generally the replacement value or cost basis of the policy - whichever is less. Ongoing premiums paid on a gifted life insurance policy also qualify for charitable deductions.

Personal Property

Gifts of tangible personal property related to the College's exempt purposes are fully tax deductible at fair market value. Gifts which do not relate to our tax exempt purposes are limited to the cost basis for determining your tax deduction.

If you would like more information about year-end tax gifts, call the Development Office, (718) 636-6880.

GS Alcohol Program Gets State Approval

St. Joseph's has recently been granted Education/Training Provider status by the State of New York Division of Alcoholism and Alcoholism and Alcohol Abuse Academy of Alcohol Studies.

"This is an ideal program for our current students and graduates in the health care professions and human services field. This sequence of courses is the first step to become eligible to sit for the credentialed alcoholism counselor examination process," said Dr. Thomas G. Travis, Dean of the Division of General Studies, which is offering the courses starting next semester.

The courses are "Alcoholism (three credits)," "Addictions and Dependencies (three credits)," and "Principles of Alcoholism and Addictions Counseling (four credits)." They total 10 credits in alcoholism counseling instruction, which is equivalent to the 150 hours required by the state as part of the requirements for eligibility to sit for the CAC examination. These courses are offered as part of the College's registered program leading to a bachelor of science degree in community health.

Students who have completed the 150 hours of alcoholism counseling-specific coursework may continue at the College to satisfy the 300-hour requirement of relevant alcoholism instruction. The College offers seven three-credit courses toward this end.

Students and alumni wanting more detailed information should contact the Division of General Studies, (516) 447-3250 at the Suffolk Campus, and (718) 622-4690 at the Brooklyn Campus.

Students who wish to take the alcoholism/addictions offerings at the College must meet the admission requirements of the Division of General Studies.

Golden Eagles Soccer Team Soars Into Playoffs

The Golden Eagles Soccer team wound up the season with a 16-4 record and is expected to go into the District 31 playoffs as the second seeded team behind King's College, which is ranked eighth in the nation. The SJC team has a record of 5-2 in the District.

The young team - there are only two seniors, Co-captains Neil Stringer and Peter Bervenich - was shut out only twice this season. These alumni were the building blocks of our current successful program," said Coach Gary Smith.

The Golden Eagles Soccer Team

The 1991 team is third seed in the NAIA Northeast Region 10. The team scored 53 goals to 19 for the opponent and shut out the opponent nine times.

Amid the pomp and ceremony there was a sense of accomplishment and relief as the 1991 graduates gathered for three commencement ceremonies in June.

Educator Diane Ravitch, Professor of History and Education at Teachers College, Columbia University, addressed the Suffolk Campus graduates on June 1. A leader and innovator in the field of education, Dr. Ravitch is the author of six books, including The American Reader, What Do Our 17-Year-Olds Know? and The Schools We Deserve. She has been an advisor to Teachers Solidarity and the Ministry of Education in Poland since 1989.

The salutatorian, Linda Colombo, a Distinguished Graduate from the Division of General Studies, received her Bachelor of Science degree with a community health major.

Graduates of the Brooklyn Campus' Division of General Studies heard N.Y. State Senator Velmanette Montgomery speak at their June 6 graduation. Sen. Montgomery represents Brooklyn's 22nd District, which is where the Brooklyn Campus is located.

She is a ranking Democrat on the Senate's Health and Social Services committees and serves on the Committees on Commerce and Economic Development, Mental Hygiene, Child Care, and Consumer Protection. She received the prestigious Columbia University Revson Fellowship, The Central Labor Council's "Outstanding Legislators Award," and was named one of "America's Top 100 Black Business and Professional Women."

Dr. Arnez Retires - Accepts New Challenge

Dr. John Arnez retired at the end of the semester in May, but instead of relaxing after 32 years of teaching and extensive scholarly research, he will go on to an even greater challenge. Dr. Arnez is returning to his native Yugoslavia to play a role in reshaping his country's economic and political future.

For the last two years, Dr. Arnez has met with many of Yugoslavia's exiled political, economic and religious leaders to put together an economic program he hopes to propose to two political parties. As an immediate project, he is assembling 50,000 books, which he expects to ship to Yugoslavia as one way to bring in the outside world.

Dr. Arnez's special field of interest is Slovenian economic structure and the economic factors that have influenced emigration from Slovenian lands to the United States from 1850 to 1914. For years, he has edited the scholarly series, Studia Slovenica, for which he has also written a number of books and monographs. This series is in the research libraries of such major universities as Harvard and Columbia as well as in the Library of Congress.

Everyone in the College community wishes much success to Dr. Arnez in his new and ambitious endeavor.

Business Honor Society Opens SJC Chapter

Delta Mu Delta, the National Honor Society in Business Administration, has established a new chapter at the Suffolk Campus.

Membership in the society is based on academic excellence and citizenship, as demonstrated in school and community service. The student members from both campuses were selected because of their high grade point average and their potential to support the activities of the society. Members are expected to devote one hour a week to either college or community service.

Delta Mu Delta offers annual scholarships and fulfills the requirements for entrance level GS-7 in federal occupations. Employer representatives recruit members for careers in business, education, industry and government.

Inducted as honorary members were Patchogue businessman and longtime friend and supporter of the College, Clare Rose. Frederick T. Shea, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, was also inducted, along with Maria Falconetti, who graduated from St. Joseph's in 1978, and is president of the Long Island firm, The Sherman Group. Faculty members Sal Rumore and Allan Bock were also inducted as honorary members.

President of the Patchogue chapter, Epsilon Tau, is alumna, Madeline Behrmann '90. The faculty advisor is Allan Bock.

"The opening of the Continuing Education Program is in keeping with the goals of the College, and enables us to extend ourselves to the community and be involved with the community," said S. Jean Marie Amore, Academic Dean at the Suffolk Campus.

The program is geared to meet the needs of adults in the 1990s who wish to sharpen their career skills, prepare to enter the job market, delve into the creative arts or who seek personal enrichment and family development. Seminars and workshops are being offered for health care professionals and educators.

"For many adults, St. Joseph's Continuing Education Program will be an introduction to education beyond high school. In some cases, taking continuing education courses at the College may lead to enrollment in one of St. Joseph's degree programs," said Susan Wilenski, assistant to the dean of the General Studies Division.

Courses are being offered in the areas of computer skills, parenting, career planning, personal enrichment, entrepreneurship, managing stress and sharpening career skills. In addition, some of the College's courses are being offered on a non-credit basis.

Banquet Honors Student Athletes

The annual sports banquet at the Patchogue Campus was especially meaningful this year, as the Athletics Department celebrated its 10th anniversary.

"We honor not only the 1990-91 student athletes, but also the people who were responsible for laying the foundation for intercollegiate and club sports here at St. Joseph's," said Frank Mulzoff, Athletics Director. Coach Mulzoff cited the enthusiasm and support of Marion Salgado, Director of Admissions; S. . . . Seasoned Crew 'Re-ups'

Frederick T. Shea and James E. McCartney completed their terms as Chairman and Vice Chairman of the Board of Trustees in October. The College owes a debt of gratitude to them for their commitment to St. Joseph's and for their generosity in sharing their time and expertise.

Since the 1970's, SJC has experienced radical changes and has enjoyed extraordinary growth. Fred Shea and Jim McCartney played a role in every phase, facilitating the process while ensuring the underlying stability of the College.

The decision to launch the Division of General Studies, the development of a 4-year program at the Brentwood Branch Campus, the purchase of the Suffolk Campus, the building of the Callahan Library ... Fred and Jim were part of it all. They have worked with faculty and administration to improve salaries, to review SJC's tenure policy, to create a sabbatical program, and to ensure the quality of our academic programs.

St. Joseph's is grateful to Frederick T. Shea and James E. McCartney for all they have done and we are thankful that they will continue to serve as members of the Board.

Daniels '79 is Deputy Supervisor

"Fred the Fireman" is at it again! The former fireman who earned his degree as a full-time New York City fire lieutenant and a full-time SJC student, hangs his new hat in the office of Suffolk County Executive Robert J. Gaffney.

Frederick L. Daniels '79 was appointed county executive assistant overseeing such county departments as Aging, Public Safety, Affirmative Action, Human Rights, Alcohol and Substance Abuse, Suffolk Community College and special projects. Fred also represents the county executive at those functions he is unable to attend.

After earning his degree with honors, Fred entered the world of politics. Eventually, he became administrative aide to Assemblyman John Powell and moved on to the office of then Assemblyman Gaffney.

An enthusiastic and dedicated individual, Fred has achieved recognition as one of the most decorated fire officers in New York City.

Recalling his days as an English major, Fred credits his instructors as being " ... highly instrumental in whatever success I achieved." He graduated cum laude and was inducted into the Delta Epsilon Honor Society.

The father of four children, Fred has passed on the St. Joseph's tradition to his daughter, Tara, who is a junior at the Suffolk Campus.

Brooklyn Students' Charity Brightens Needy Families' Holidays

The Brooklyn Campus' Special Programs Committee organized, once again, a Thanksgiving food drive for needy families in the St. Michael - St. Edward Church in the Fort Greene section of Brooklyn.

Suzanne DeStefano, co-chairperson of Special Programs, received a letter from the church's pastor, Father John Delendick, saying, "The support shown by the students of St. Joseph's College over the years has always been a concrete example of the Gospel message in action and is a great inspiration for me and my staff."

Beta Epsilon Delta, the on-campus sorority, sponsored a Christmas party for the mothers and children of Providence House. More than 25 students drove to Providence House in cars filled with gifts of clothes, shoes and toys. The Undergraduate Association donated SJC shirts.

Child study major Joanne McNally, a junior, organized a "Giving Tree Program," whereby the Brooklyn students sponsored two needy families. Paper ornaments stating what type of gifts family members needed were hung on two Christmas trees in the 245 Building. Students, faculty and staff then selected a gift item to donate.

The "Giving Tree Program" was a wonderful experience for all those involved, promoting good will, sharing, and the true spirit of Christmas.

In addition, students participated in the annual Toys for Tots campaign, which was a great success. Students also were active in the Angel Tree Project, receiving a letter from Father Anthony M. Rucando, Pastor of Queen of All Saints Church, who said, " I cannot express adequately my admiration for your concern and sacrifice, that in the midst of exams, allowed you to shop and wrap presents for people less fortunate. The sacrifice of your love has once again given hope to those of faith."

Suffolk Students Brave The Cold Weather To Help The Homeless

Donning many layers of clothing, a group of students, faculty and administrators at the Suffolk Campus braved 20-degree temperatures and spent the night of Nov. 26 camped out in cardboard boxes on the Callahan Library lawn, sympathizing with the plight of the homeless.

Before moving outside, the participants saw the film, "Shelter Boy," and heard a talk from a representative of the Interfaith Nutrition Network. Sponsored by Campus Ministry, the sleepover raised more than $3,000 that was donated to the Wyandanch Homes and Property Development Corp. for the refurbishing of a home for a disadvantaged family. In addition, the Child Study Club collected food for the three Patchogue food kitchens; and Circle K gathered gifts of clothing, blankets, and toys for area shelters.

The event, which concluded on Nov. 27 with a prayer service, caught the attention of The New York Times, Newsday, several Long Island weekly newspapers, two cable TV stations and two radio stations. The media attention prompted several members of the community to drop off donations of food and clothing at the College.

The sleepover proved to be an inspiration to other colleges, which have said they would like to have an intercollegiate fundraiser next year.

Major Gifts Spark Campaign

December '91 brought a number of much-needed and deeply appreciated "Christmas gifts" from a variety of benefactors.

Endowment

The Altman Foundation awarded $50,000 to SJC for its Endowed Scholarship Fund. Julia Vahey Shea '67, Vice President of Morgan Guaranty and a trustee of the Altman Foundation, presented the College's proposal to the Board. Her encouragement and support were vital components in the final approval for this grant request, which will enable us to continue to provide financial assistance to academically qualified applicants to the College.

Doris Oshinsky Powers '53 made an additional significant contribution to the endowed Powers Scholarship which currently provides assistance to six SJC students.

A major goal of the New Horizons Campaign is the enhancement of our modest endowment. The Board of Trustees has set a long-range goal of establishing funds sufficient to provide for the needs of ever-increasing numbers of students with pressing financial demands.

Therefore, the College continues to pursue corporate and foundation grants and personal gifts for its endowment programs. Any information regarding possible sources of funding should be directed to the Capital Campaign Office: (718) 636-6880 or (516) 447-9283.

Gerontology Program

The Ira DeCamp Foundation has presented $25,000 to the Division of General Studies for the further development of its program in geriatric and gerontological studies. Funds will be used to purchase electronic equipment and other classroom and study aids.

This grant will assist the College in preparing health professionals knowledgeable in physiological, psychological, social and political issues related to the elderly - the fastest growing population in the country.

Special thanks to GS faculty members Dr. Audrey Conley, Dr. Lorraine Boykin and Assistant Dean Carolyn Gallogly for their initiative and professional expertise in crafting the proposal, and Trustee Herbert J. Brauer, and John Kindred of MHT, who assisted in shepherding our proposal through the foundation network.

The Dillon Child Study Center

The Brooklyn Benevolent Society presented the Dillon Center with a gift of $3,600 (double their usual annual award) to offset tuition charges for a little girl whose family recently experienced a serious financial crisis. The Society's primary purpose is to distribute funds for the education and maintenance of New York City youth, especially those who are financially disadvantaged.

Experiences In Scientific Research

The New York Telephone Co. has pledged $3,000 to S. Mary Maier's innovative Experiences in Scientific Research Program. (See Page 3). In addition, NY Tel presented $5,000 t o SJC as its annual unrestricted support of general college projects. For more than 20 years, NY Tel has participated in SJC's growth through these grants and through its Matching Gift Program which double matches the contributions of its employees to St. Joseph's (up to $500) and matches one-to-one up to $10,000.

LEADERS MEET - The Grumman Corporation recently hosted a select group of 30 Long Island business, education and political leaders at its corporate headquarters in Bethpage. Here, S. George Aquin discusses regional economic trends with Renso Caporali ,Grumman chairman and CEO. Grumman has been a generous supporter of many SJC projects and programs.*

Two Popular Events On Spring Calendar

Two of the most popular events hosted by SJC have hit the College's Spring Calendar and, hopefully, will find their way onto many personal and business calendars throughout the metropolitan area.

On Monday, March 23, the Board of Trustees will have its Annual Reception for the benefit of the Brooklyn Campus. The fundraiser will be held at the Brooklyn Club from 5 to 7:30 p.m. and will honor famed Brooklyn actor Vincent Gardenia. Chairpersons for the event are Anthony Di Brita, Vice President of Brooklyn Union Gas Co., and William A. McKenna, President and CEO of the Ridgewood Savings Bank.

The College's Second Annual Golf Tournament is scheduled for Monday, June 29, at Southward Ho! Country Club in Bay Shore. The committee hopes to build on the success of last year's outing which raised more than $42,000 for the campaign. Once again, this year, we hope for a "sell-out crowd" of 128 golfers.

Proceeds from the golf tournament will be used for the College's scholarship fund and for the athletics program.

John Read . . . His Friends Remember . . .

The Suffolk Campus was stunned and saddened on Nov. 12, with news of the death of popular senior, John Read. John, whose gentle manner and compassion were coupled with zeal and stalwart dedication, was hospitalized the previous week.

The driving force behind the Bowling Team, John was organizing and publicizing the team's annual bowling night and raffle when he was stricken with pneumonia. "When John arrived in heaven, he probably asked God if there was a bowling team up there. If not, John probably said, 'Okay, don't worry, I'll organize one,'" said Deacon Joseph Bartolato at John's funeral at St. Anthony Catholic Church in his home town of Rocky Point. His passion for bowling and his enthusiasm for people also led him to organize the Bowling Club for those students interested in the sport for enjoyment more than competition. He was also a member of the Drama Club and majored in English, hoping to teach on the secondary level.

At a special all-campus meeting called by the SGA, students expressed their feelings about John. Later, the student paper, The Talon, included many articles as a testimonial in his memory.

John was described by his peers as " ... a special gem ... dear friend ... kind ... considerate ... caring ... an instrument of love and peace ... warm and friendly ... easy to talk to ... a good listener ... enthusiastic ... good ... cheerful and smiling ... full of life."

The bold type in The Talon proclaimed what many wished they had had the chance to say, "Dear John ... We love you ... we'll miss you."

The John Read Memorial Scholarship Fund has been established and has received $2,000 to date. Those wishing to make a contribution may mail their checks, payable to the fund, to the Suffolk Campus Development Office.

John received the Golden Eagle Award last spring, the coach's honor, citing dedication and achievement. Bowling Coach Pete Hovanac presented the plaque during the 10th Annual Athletics Banquet.

College Prepares For Middle States Visit

The College is in the final stages of preparation for the upcoming accreditation visit by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Schools. The visit, scheduled for March 1 through March 4, culminates a two-year self-study process during which the college community worked together to review curriculum, faculty, facilities, outcomes, governance, student life, finances ... virtually every aspect of college life! This phase was spearheaded by the Steering Committee with Lenore Kelly, Ph.D., and Monica Brennan, Ph.D., serving as co-chairpersons, working with S. Mary Florence Burns, Ph.D., Lorraine Boykin, Ed.D., and S. John Raymond McGann, Ph.D.

S. Anne John O'Loughlin, O.P., Chairperson of the team, paid a preliminary visit to SJC in October to review practical arrangements. Sister enjoyed the opportunity to see both campuses, and to meet many members of the SJC family.

All are anticipating that the visit will be a stimulating and productive experience which will bring St. Joseph's to an exciting and new level of challenge and achievement.

S. Anne John O'Loughlin, center, tours the Campus with S. George Aquin and Academic Dean S. Jean Marie Amore, right.

TRUSTEE HONORED - SJC Board Member Stephen Hochberg was recently named Touro Law School's "Founding Professor of Law." A private investor and real estate law consultant, Mr. Hochberg has been a devoted and cherished friend of the College for many years.*

'Greenpeace Day' kicks off recycling program

Mary Maier welcomes Greenpeace speaker James Hanson to St. Joseph's

"Greenpeace Day," conducted by S. Mary Maier, chairperson of the Physical Sciences Department and the Brooklyn Campus Science Club, was held on Nov. 13.

James Hanson, a lecturer from Greenpeace, came to the campus and presented a slide show depicting the many ways in which members of this ecology-minded organization have contributed globally to the continued survival of our planet.

The lecture and slide presentation kicked-off the Science Club's effort to provide opportunities for recycling paper on campus.

Bottle recycling has been on-going for the past several years.

City Awards $10,000 Grant To 'Let's Talk Business'

The General Studies Division recently was awarded a $10,000 grant from New York City for implementing its innovative "Let's Talk Business" program. Last year, the Division also received a grant to present this series of 10, three-hour seminars for New York City's Office of Business Development.

Slated for March 19 to May 28, the program provides free business management information and training for service, retail and manufacturing as well as start-up businesses. In addition, follow-up sessions are scheduled so participants can work with the seminar leaders in applying the principles to their individual situations.

'Experiences In Science' Program Continues To Be Popular With Brooklyn High Schools

The science faculty is preparing for an especially exciting new "Experiences in Scientific Research" program at the Brooklyn Campus for the College's 75th anniversary year. As in the past, this year's program will offer opportunities for scientific investigation to Brooklyn's high school sophomores, juniors and seniors.

The program is coordinated by S. Mary Maier, Chairperson of the Physical Sciences Department, and is cost-free to participants who perform experiments in the College's chemistry, biology and physics laboratories.

The response to invitations for this program, which were sent to public and parochial schools, has been extremely enthusiastic. At a time when poor performance at the high school level in science and math is being well publicized, it is encouraging to know nearly 100 area high school students are participating in this program. Some of the high schools involved in the program this year include St. Joseph's, Fontbonne Hall, Bishop Kearney, Jamaica High, William Cullen Bryant and Edward R. Morrow.

The students who participate in this innovative program are provided with opportunities to examine some of the professional options and challenges awaiting those who major in the sciences. Topics being covered include astronomy, biofeedback and biochemicals; ecology; scientific investigation; and polymers. The modules are formatted to include lectures and laboratory periods, guest speakers and a field trip. This year's field trip, on a schooner, in May, will explore some aspects of oceanography.

SJC Theatrical Productions Are Tops

The Chapel Players have been providing audiences, filled with family, friends and supportive faculty and staff, with enjoyable and fun-filled entertainment at the Brooklyn Campus.

"Take adjoining Greenwich Village apartments," says Director Robert Radus, "a sensitive young man who is blind, and a flightly young woman who resists commitment; add the surprise arrival of the young man's protective mother, then mix the ingredients to the boiling point, and you have the recipe for Leonard Gershe's tender and fun exploration into human relationships, 'Butterflies are Free.'" This production, presented in November, attracted a record-high attendance and box-office take.

Doc Radus is now in pre-production with the Spring play, musical-comedy, "Stop the World - I Want to Get Off." The show is set for April 10 and 11 at 8 p.m. and April 12 at 2 p.m.

The Clare Rose Playhouse at the Suffolk Campus is presenting a return run of "Nunsense" from Feb. 21 to March 15. A hot ticket, the show promises to be a repeat sellout!

The rest of the season will feature Agatha Christie's "The Mousetrap" from May 15 to 31, and Neil Simon's "The Gingerbread Lady" from July 10 to 26.

Brooklyn Bears Have A 'Growth' Season

This has been a growth season for the Brooklyn Men's Varsity Basketball team, the SJC Bears. Sophomore and business administration major Kevin Raynor, the team's high scorer, has shown tremendous improvement in team skills and increased pride in his play, due, in part, to his summer experience at the John MacLeod Basketball Camp at Notre Dame University, where SJC Men's Varsity Coach, Father Charles, was the camp commissioner.

Father Sullivan said, "Kevin is growing personally as well as athletically in the College sports program. The program is designed for these young men as athletes, as students, and as people." Freshman Chris Zunno from Xaverian and Joey Cocozello from St. Peter's, also are developing as team players.

Father Sullivan has been expanding playing opportunities for the team. The team has participated in five tournaments this year, where last year they played in two tournaments. The Bears are especially looking forward to competing in the Long Island Invitational Tournament on Feb. 21, when they will take on Molloy, Centenary, and the Suffolk Campus SJC Golden Eagles.

Dillon Center Celebrates With A Country Fair

This year the Suffolk Campus' Golden Eagles, the Brooklyn Campus' Bears, Molloy College and Centenary Collage teams will do battle. The tournament is being sponsored by the Golden Eagles Booster Club and all proceeds will go towards St. Joseph's athletics program.

For the fourth consecutive year, SJC Athletics Director Frank Mulzoff is providing color commentary on Cablevision's TV broadcasts of Suffolk County high schools boys' and girls' basketball games of the week.

Former Golden Eagle Anthony Galatro, whose college days and basketball playing were halted by a 1990 auto accident, got a hearty welcome at the Jan. 30 game. Tony rooted for his old team which battled the Brooklyn Bears. A post-game party honoring Tony was hosted by Coach Jim Murphy and the Golden Eagles. The Grumman Corporation has presented the College a $5,000 grant to establish the Grumman Intervention Financial Trust for Students (GIFTS) Fund to subsidize students who are committed to completing their undergraduate degrees, but who are faced with unexpected financial crises which would make it impossible for them to continue their education without emergency aid.

Dillon Children . . . Museum Buffs

When Sister Patricia Dittmer, kindergarten teacher at the Dillon Center, announced that she would take her class of 5-year-olds to the "Celebrating Calder" exhibit at the Whitney Museum of American Art, she encountered some skeptics among her friends and colleagues. They informed her that the museum was much too abstract and adult for 5-year-olds.

S. Pat and the children started preparing by talking about who Alexander Calder was, where he lived, and the mobiles he made. The children's project was to make a sculpture out of wire. These sculptures were displayed in the hallway, which they were now calling the "Dillon Museum."

On the day of the trip, the children were joined by a special class from the Dillon Center and their teacher, Mary Meade King. During their tour, the children saw Calder's mobiles, some run mechanically, and some by the wind.

The Calder Circus was thrilling and the movie of Calder and his life led the children to decide that he was a happy, jolly man, who resembled Santa Claus.

Since then, Sister Pat's skeptical friends have acknowledged that they were wrong. Five-year-olds can have a wonderful time at the Whitney.

Prof. Josephine Belloso and Janice Pico, a senior, admire students' art work.

The Easter Bunny made a special visit this spring to visit the children at the Dillon Center.

Brooklyn Students Display Art Work

The SJC Student Art Exhibit opened during Common Hour on Wednesday, April 29, in the Student Activities office and ran through Thursday, May 7.

On exhibit were pen and pencil drawings, watercolor paintings, silk screening, linoleum prints, and etchings, as well as crafts, such as ceramics work, weaving, stained glass plaques, window hangings, and quilting.

An unusual feature this year was the work of Interior Design students who created 16 scale model rooms with handmade furniture, including a living room with a greenhouse and a marble whirlpool bath for two with a stairway.

Clare Rose Playhouse Sponsors Innovative Children's Program

The magic of theater will shine this summer at the Clare Rose Playhouse, located on the Suffolk Campus. "Spotlight on Children" is an original program conceived to give children an opportunity to develop their self-esteem through creative expression.

This exciting program is sponsored through private and public funding. The Kiwanis Club, Lions Club, Friends of the Library and Ruland Funeral Home in Patchogue, along with the Long Island Charities Foundation have provided funding for this new project. Celebrities John McEnroe, Alan Alda, and Carroll O'Connor have also contributed funds.

The program creators and coordinators are, Sister Grace Edna Rowland, Chairperson of the Speech Department and Executive Director of the Playhouse; Louise Turner Mallory, SJC Speech Instructor, and Angelo Truglio, Principal at River Avenue Elementary School in Patchogue. Its mission is to present a positive alternative for children caught in the destructive cycles so prevalent in today's society. Ms. Mallory and six SJC students will staff the program. Fifty children between the ages of six and nine will participate. They will create and perform an original production for friends, families, and benefactors. The children also will bring the show to nursing homes and a day care center.

The coordinators hope to extend this type of workshop year-round and are seeking additional funding. To make a contribution or for more information, please contact Sister Grace at (516) 654-0199.

Coordinators Truglio and Mallory join S. Grace in accepting a check from Vinny Romeo of the Patchogue Lions Club.

While St. Joseph's College Soccer Team was unveiling its new NAIA District 31 Champions banner, members of the Patchogue Campus Tennis Team were packing their bags for the District 31 championships in Kansas City.

Although the tennis players did not come home with a championship banner, this first-year team is the new pride of St. Joe's roster of District 31 stars. In total, our athletes completed the year with 14 District 31 awards.

Dr. Boykin Gives Nutrition Tips To Science Club

Dr. Lorraine Boykin, Chairperson of the Division of General Studies Community Health Department, delivered a talk on "The Importance of Nutrition Today" during Common Hour on Wednesday, April 8. The talk was hosted by Sister Mary Maier and was sponsored by the Science Club.

Dr. Boykin said, "There is so much malnutrition out there that I feel we have to get the nutrition message across. A healthy diet is very important."

On March 26, Dr. Boykin presented a paper at the Eleventh International Congress of Dietetics in Jerusalem entitled, "The Art of Lecturing on Nutrition: How to Get the Message Across."

In her presentation, Dr. Boykin addressed techniques which enable speakers to move their audiences "to the edge of their seat."

In her professional talks and in the classroom, Dr. Boykin focuses on getting the nutrition message across to diverse groups of people, some of whom may know little about nutrition and need to be motivated in the direction of healthy eating.

William H. Hoefling, whose outstanding contributions to business, community and charitable organizations recently earned him SJC's coveted Distinguished Citizen Award, has been elected as the newest member of the College's Board of Trustees. He became executive in charge of all consumer credit in the Tri-State area in 1984, and was promoted to Senior Vice President in 1989.

Enrollment Up At Both Campuses

SJC continues to beat the odds . . . and the statisticians. Once again we have an increase in enrollment at both campuses . . . now totalling 2,894.

In this Fall semester, the Suffolk Campus has experienced a healthy 7% jump in the total student population, from 1,835 to 1,933, which includes a substantial rise of 9% in the freshman class. In Brooklyn, enrollment has increased 11% to 961 students.

The Division of General Studies reports an 8% enrollment increase at both campuses Its nursing program reports a 50% increase. This program prepares registered nurses for practice in traditional and unstructured health care settings and provides a foundation for graduate education in nursing.

St. Joseph's Grads Buck Trends . . . They Get Jobs

What do St. Joseph's College students do when they graduate? They work!

Despite the dismal nationwide employment outlook for recent college graduates, more than 85% of SJC's recent graduates report they have jobs.

Total employment, full and part-time, was over 85% for the Classes of 1990 and 1991, according to statistics compiled by the directors of counseling and career services at both the Brooklyn and Suffolk campuses.

The figures for the Brooklyn Campus are 96% working in the Class of 1990 and 88% working from the Class of 1991. Suffolk figures come in at 89% for the Class of 1990 and 86 % for the Class of 1991.

Irene Nebel, Brooklyn Director of Counseling and Career Services, reports that 64% of the 1991 graduates responded and 44% from the Class of 1990 answered the survey. The last two classes had a return of 37% on surveys conducted one year after graduation, according to Anna Bess Robinson, the Suffolk Campus Director.

"A response of 25% in a survey like this is considered excellent," said Ms. Robinson. "National marketing surveys expect a response of 15%, so we feel 37 % gives us a good indication of what our graduates are doing."

"The good news is that our graduates do have jobs," Ms. Nebel said. And, the number of St. Joseph's students who are pursuing graduate studies, full or part-time, one year after graduation is 32% for the Brooklyn Class of '90 and 42% for the Class of '91. Suffolk graduates students come in at 23% for the Class of '90 and 34% for the Class of '91, according to the survey.

Annual Job Fairs are conducted at both campuses and the directors regularly assist students in their job searches.

College Receives Grant For 2 Vans

Sister George Aquin O'Connor and several students thank New York State Senator Caesar Trunzo for his efforts on behalf of the College in obtaining a state grant for two vans. The vehicles will be used in Patchogue to transport students to College sponsored off-campus activities. "Senator Trunzo has been a good friend of SJC for many years," said Sister George. This response to student needs in their curricular and extra-curricular pursuits is one more indication of his understanding and support of higher education."

Fifth Alumni Day Is Bright Success

Bright sunshine on Oct. 4, augured well for our Fifth Alumni Day, held in McEntegart Hall. Over 150 alumni, friends and faculty began the day with a Mass of Thanksgiving, celebrated by Rev. Robert E. Lauder, Ph.D. with remembrance of all living and deceased alumni and faculty.

Next on the agenda was a luncheon in the cafeteria and an opportunity to pore over the enticing list of lecture sessions. Many found it difficult to make the two choices. Eleven members of the faculty gave lectures in their fields, and all classes were very well attended. A good cross section of alumnae/i was represented from the Class of 1925 to the Class of 1992. The consensus of all was, "Let's do it again next year."

Special thanks go to Father Robert Lauder and to the faculty members who participated , as well as to the hard-working Alumni Day Committee, headed by S. Margaret Buckley, Bettyanne McDonough '59, Dianne Piwinski '72, and to our students who ran the boutique.

Dr. Cantor Gives Founder's Day Lecture

Acclaimed historian and author, Norman F. Cantor, delivered the annual Founder's Day Lecture, "1492 Remembered," on Oct. 19. This event closed the College's Diamond Jubilee Celebration and also served as part of its commemoration of the Columbus Quincentennial.

Professor Cantor brought a tremendous breadth of knowledge and the ability to illuminate complex events to a subject that has raised many questions. He proposed to trace the emergence of the Christian Commonwealth in the Renaissance period, a structure first manifest in Columbus' Spain. The events of 1492 -- the neutralizing of Muslim power, the expulsion of unconverted Spanish Jews, and the great voyage of discovery -- were a prelude to the expected development of a paradisal social, religious, and governmental structure. Though marred by personal greed, ecclesiastical misunderstanding and royal ineptitude, the idea of a Christian Commonwealth was, nevertheless, one of the greatest political visions of the Western World.

The lecture was well attended, with many history teachers and guidance counselors from local schools present as well as SJC faculty and students. Several members of the audience posed provocative ideas to Dr. Cantor. (The lecture has been published in the Nov. 9 issue of Commonweal.)

Dr. Cantor has written numerous articles and 13 books, the most recent of which, Inventing the Middle Ages, was chosen by the National Book Critics Circle as one of the best 25 books of 1991 written by an American.

Homecoming Features Dr. Peck, Sports Events

The line of devoted fans, quietly discussing the work of Dr. M. Scott Peck, wound through the main floor of the Callahan Library and out the lobby, as the unassuming author and psychologist signed copies of his books and chatted with some of the more than 1,000 people who came to hear him speak during Homecoming '92 at the Suffolk Campus.

Dr. Peck, whose book, The Road Less Traveled, has been on the New York Times bestseller list for eight years, gave two lectures, "Mythology and Human Nature" and "The True Meaning of Community."

While Dr. Peck was expounding his theories, those with a more athletic bent were involved with other Homecoming activities. The day started with the annual Alumni-Golden Eagles Baseball Game. The graduates met new coach Mike Palermo and vowed "Wait 'til next year year, . . . " as victory slipped away . . . 9-3.

The Women's Volleyball team played a Tri-Match with teams from Adelphi and Bard.

A win over Goldey Beacom made Soccer Family Day even sweeter, as Coach Gary Smith welcomed the players and their families.

Dr. Peck's fans wait for his autograph.

ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE
Capital campaign UPDATE

Final Year of Capital Campaign

The 1992-1993 fiscal year marks the close of the $5,000,000 New Horizons Campaign. To date, approximately $4.6 million has been pledged with $4.1 paid toward that amount.

With only seven months remaining in this fiscal year (which ends June 30, 1993), we ask all members of the College community, alumni and friends to make every effort to assist us in reaching our goal. If you have not participated in the campaign, please do so now . . . if you have made a pledge and have not made a payment this year, please send it before June 30.

If you have completed your pledge, consider making an additional gift to help put us over the top.

Your generosity is the key to the College's continued growth and development. Help us so that we may help deserving students now and in the future.

Mary St. John Murphy

Mary St. John Murphy, Class of 1924, has made the first donation to the SJC "Buy A Book Club," which will serve to maintain the libraries on both campuses in their present vital and active state. You can help sustain a constant flow of new acquisitions with a donation of $50 (the average cost of acquiring and accessioning a library book). Your name will be permanently placed in the book acknowledging your gift.

The College is indeed grateful to Mary for her numerous efforts on its behalf, including the establishment of an endowed scholarship in memory of her late husband, Gilbert P. Murphy.

$105,000 Bequest

SJC has been notified of a $105,000 bequest from the estate of Claire Pleines '27, an Education/Speech Communications major. A longtime resident of Brooklyn, Claire moved to Middle Village, Queens, in 1966, and later retired to Lakewood, NJ. Her sister, Emily, who pre-deceased her, was a member of the Class of 1928. There are indications that a further payment may be due the College when Claire's estate is finally settled.

IBM Matching Gift Program

Through its Matching Gift Program, IBM is offering the option of a 5:1 new equipment/software match, provided $5,000 in combined donor gifts is received during the May through April measurement period. Both the 5:1 equipment match and the 2:1 cash match are disbursed once a year in June. This past fiscal year, we received $3,037 from IBM, matching $1,518.50 in contributions from alumni and friends.

If you are eligible to request matching gifts from IBM and have not done so, please take advantage of this opportunity. Let us challenge ourselves to reach the $5,000 level of contributions so that we can take advantage of the 5:1 equipment match next year.

Golden Graduates Society

On Saturday, December 5, Sister George Aquin will host the first annual Reception for St. Joseph's College Golden Graduates, all those who graduated from 1920 -1942.

Beginning with lunch at noon, the day promises to be a worthy beginning to this annual recognition of our loyal alumnae/i. To date, over 100 alumnae plan to attend.

Financial Seminar

The Suffolk Alumni Chapter plans to sponsor a Financial Seminar at the Suffolk Campus in April '93 . . . featuring Helen Minieri Stacy '80, Associate Vice-President - Investments at Prudential Securities. A noted analyst and financial advisor, Mrs. Stacy provided many impressive insights at SJC's first Financial Seminar held last Spring at the Brooklyn Campus.

Giving? Think 'Year End'

If you plan to give a gift to SJC in the near future, you may wish to consider giving it before December 31. Your contribution made prior to "year end" could provide substantial tax savings for you and a very helpful gift to the College.

For example, if you are in the 28 percent marginal tax bracket, and contribute $1,000 to SJC, your gift will actually cost you $720.

While cash is the most useful gift, many other types of giving provide significant support for the College and noteworthy tax benefits for donors. Some of them include:

Securities
Real Estate
Insurance
Personal Property
Deferred Gifts-Estate Planning

If you have any questions regarding proposed gifts, year-end tax advantages, or deferred giving options, call us at (718) 636-6880 or (516) 447-9283.

Since You've Asked . . .

Many alumni and friends wishing to include SJC in their wills and other forms of estate planning should use the official name of the College - St. Joseph's College, New York.

In addition, specific bequests to a campus, a program, or a department will be honored in accordance with the donor's intent. Be sure to consult your attorney or tax advisor for assistance.

. . . And, thanks for your interest.

Dillon Center Adds New Equipment

It was a beautiful day for a festive occasion, when, on Oct. 20, Sister Helen Kearney, Director of the Dillon Child Study Center, dedicated the facility's new state-of-the-art playground equipment. A large gathering of Dillon parents, their children, SJC students, faculty and staff attended.

This equipment has been developmentally designed for pre-school children, affording them enough challenge in their play to stimulate personal growth, while providing a safe environment.

Sister Helen noted that, "The child's safety is paramount - all edges are rounded off, the Jungle Jim variation has spaces to keep children within arm's reach, the straight and spiral slides, the flexible walkway and the simulated ship's wheel and portholes are all geared toward hazard-free play."

Over the past two years, Dillon parents have raised funds for this equipment by hosting a Jungle Carnival and a Country Fair.
